

Fostering autistic children

In this exclusive Network Autism article Jack Annis from Credo Care explores what is involved in becoming a foster carer to autistic children.

The article discusses the processes and requirements for fostering an autistic child, and what support and training they are likely to receive from foster agencies. It highlights the rewards of becoming a foster carer, and looks at the real-life case study of a young couple who are fostering a four-year-old autistic boy.

<http://network.autism.org.uk/knowledge/insight-opinion/fostering-autistic-children>

If you need help looking for services for an individual with an autism spectrum condition, we can help. Click below for the Autism Placement Support Service.

